Psychological Evaluation:

Kim possesses a shrewd and calculating mind covered by a playful and fun loving attitude. He often uses this trait to deceive people into underestimating his abilities, most often while at a gambling table. His natural cryptographic ability scores higher than any other living human on record and he is often capable of outperforming computer systems. However it is his "carefree" attitude that keeps him from static research and analysis roles. Unfortunately this same attitude leads him to almost compulsive gambling as well as rampant womanizing.

Tactical Skills Evaluation:

Possess regular Mechwarrior skills and passable marksmanship abilities. Excellent sprinter. His strength lies in coordinating and disrupting battlefield communications.
